

Dr. Gregory Henley

Dr. Gregory Henley is a results-oriented Executive and Business Educator with a passion for entrepreneurship who is driven by teaching, developing, and motivating ambitious leaders. Clients looking for a Fractional CFO call him to help raise funds, establish a financial strategy to implement their business strategy, develop their financial function and strategic plans.

In full-time positions of President and Chief Financial Officer, he led two bank acquisitions, established the financial function at technology ventures, and raised both debt and equity funds in different market cycles. Clients have included Citigroup, Morgan Stanley, Douglas County (GA), and numerous ventures.

His transition to a fulltime professor culminated in becoming the Director of the Center for Entrepreneurship at Georgia State University, where he was voted the Most Outstanding Instructor by an MBA class. Dr. Henley has been sought after for speaking engagements and interviews with major publications such as the Wall Street Journal, NY Times, and Atlanta Journal-Constitution.